AP Physics C Lab #3– Inclined Motion

Name _____

Grade _____

In this lab a piece of metal will slide down an inclined plane. Your objective is to use your knowledge of linear motion to devise a method of measuring the coefficient of friction between the objects. In the space below outline your procedure clearly and perform the necessary calculations. Write your final answer in the space provided.

Coefficient of friction (μ) = _____